WORKING WITH OUR OWN Structural Engineering practice, trade suppliers, system designers and architects we are able to undertake all aspects of cladding projects from initial design through to the final installation of the chosen system. From early client concepts we advise our clients on the build-ability of their projects, detailing how the desired systems will interact with their existing facades and make impartial recommendations on panel layout, steel framing systems (SFS) layout and design, structural calculations of systems including wind loading fixings, thermal calculations and proposals for required insulation ensuring maximum value and outstanding performance.

IN HOUSE STRUCTURAL ENGINEERS

AS WELL AS ACTING as a weatherproof screen, rainscreen cladding can dramatically transform the visual appeal of buildings and have a beneficial impact on the thermal efficiency. CRL Facades have extensive experience with installing all major suppliers of Rainscreen cladding systems including high-pressure laminate boards, terracotta tiles, composite aluminium faced boards as well as other cement faced boards. The lightweight support frame is an integral part of the cladding system and we are able to design and install the frames for the selected cladding system.

CRL FACADES is an approved installer of external wall insulation (EWI) systems such as Sto, Weber, Structerm, Gebrik and Knauf. Such systems can be used to create a variety of facade finishes such as through colour render, dash, stone, smooth or rough cast and brick.

The brick effect finish is achieved by either the application of individual brick-slips to a backing board or the use of insulated multi brick panels that can be fixed on to a framework system. CRL Facades can advise on the different insulation options available as well as look at specific details in conjunction with the preferred manufacturer to meet the client's needs.
